Removal of participants from activities

Participants on activities must comply with the regulations, all rules and regulations that apply at any location where courses are provided, and all instructions of course leaders and other staff at any location where courses are provided.

We treat as a priority the safety and wellbeing of all participants attending our activities. We therefore reserve the right to remove participants from our courses, without refund. A participant will be removed if found bullying, behaving in a way that may be a danger to others, or who is generally disruptive.

If a participant is removed from an activity, it is your responsibility to organise their travel arrangements home.

We have imposed a 2 yellow, 1 red card system on all activities. A yellow card may be issued for late collection or behaviour issues as mentioned above. A straight red card could also be issued.

After 2 yellow cards have been enforced, this will turn into a red card on a third offence and the participant will be refused entry to that particular activity, with no refund if applicable, and will be refused entry on all other activities until further notice.
